VOTERS OF OAHU

I beg to announce my candidacy as a representative from the Fourth District on the Republican ticket. I believe that Hawaii can and will prosper through the principles of the Republican party. We all know what has happened to Hawaii the past year—depression, hard times, and scrap iron galore—and no sales. The only remedy: Elect "Scrap Iron" Brown to the legislature and prosperity will exist all over the territory.

If I am successful in my campaign, I will do everything in my power in putting the business affairs of the territory in a first-class condition. My motto is: "Play no favorites."

Yours truly,

C. H. BROWN.

POLITICAL NOTES

George E. Smithies filed his nomination yesterday as Republican candidate for treasurer.

Queen and Keawe streets, near the Kumafae block, will be the scene of a Republican rally tonight, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Leon M. Straus, who declined to accept proffered support from the Democrats for county attorney, says that he has no political ambitions. He devotes himself to the law profession.

George A. Davis, candidate for city and county attorney, is going to Maui with the Shrimers on their pilgrimage, and cannot be here for the political meeting of Saturday and Sunday. He has issued a statement setting forth his views which he asks the voters to consider while he is gone.

John W. Cathcart, Republican candidate for city and county attorney, is as strong with the voters as ever, according to present indications. He is invariably well-greeted at the meetings and his statement that under his administration the city attorney's department has done much efficient work is received with evident approval. Many Republicans think that his vote will be much larger than it was two years ago.

Public service work was emphasized by a number of Republican candidates who spoke at School and Liliha streets last night. Albion F. Clark, candidate for supervisor, urged the erection of an emergency hospital; Daniel Logan did the same; A. L. Castle, who is running for the senate, talked for improvements in the waterworks; A. D. Castro favored a workman's compensation bill. More than 30 candidates spoke and none had time for more than a few words.

As stated by the Star-Bulletin yesterday, Attorney Joseph Lightfoot has entered the lists as Democratic aspirant for the office of city and county attorney. The petition was circulated yesterday, the requisite number of signatures attached and the nomination paper duly filed at the city clerk's office. Lightfoot was John W. Cathcart's closest rival in the last election of the later and the Democrats are convinced Lightfoot stands an excellent chance to win this time.

SENATOR

For the Third (Oahu) Senatorial District, will appreciate the support of all who feel him qualified to fill the office as a representative of all the people and all interests of the territory.
